Custom Compression

Custom compression garments provide the ultimate in compression therapy for the long term management of vascular and lymphatic conditions. They are measured and properly fitted to the exact contour of your affected limb and provides accurate and consistent gradient compression.

Burn Garments

Burn garments decrease extremity pain through vascular support, protect fragile skin and promote better circulation of damaged tissues. The purpose of these garments is to suppress scar hypertrophy, contractures, and accelerate the maturation of scarring. They have been the standard of care for this condition for over three decades. They are to be worn essentially 23 hours per day, and the patient will need to be provided two sets of garments such that one may be washed while the other is worn.

Compression Wraps

Wraps are compression alternatives for individuals with limited hand strength, nonstandard limb shapes, fragile skin, or with significant fluctuations in swelling.

This technology provides a wider range of compression than traditional garments, steady comfortable resting compression and higher working compression when a person is active.
